Women 4 Women's Finance 4 Her™ program offers free finance classes

Louisville, KY (March 19, 2012) – Finance 4 Her™, in conjunction with Spalding University, is offering free financial success classes to women beginning March 20. The course, called Financial Success 101, is free and open to the public.

“This is a great program for any woman desiring to have a better understanding of the most effective financial management tools,” said Janet Fulton, program consultant for Women 4 Women.

The classes are taught by Fulton and use the Financial Opportunity: Family Progress curriculum applications developed by Women 4 Women especially for the Finance 4 Her™ program. The course counts for one credit hour and covers topics such as:

- Financial dreams
- Spending plans
- Understanding income and credit
- Debt management
- Building assets
- Creating a financial plan

Students who successfully complete the program are invited to join the Encouragement Coach Network, a service of Women 4 Women. Through the program, students will be paired with a coach in the community to help them take this new education to the next level by applying it practically to their financial situation.

Classes are free and include a workbook. The $20 textbook purchase is required. To register, contact Frances Ann Ford, Spalding University, fford@spalding.edu. For additional information about Finance 4 Her™ and the Encouragement Coach Network, contact Janet Fulton at Janet@w4w.org or 502-523-1610.

About Women 4 Women

Women 4 Women is a non-profit organization based in Louisville. Founded nearly 20 years ago, the organization strives to empower women and girls in our community through the Women 4 Women Economic Self-Sufficiency Model which focuses on four key areas: health and safety, education and leadership, jobs and earnings, and social change and the single-parent economy.

Women 4 Women believes that by empowering women and girls we are empowering entire family units and having a lasting impact on our community and future generations.
